VOLUME XXIX NO. 7

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 29, 1936

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE ENTERTAINED ON EMPIRE DAY

As usual Gleichen will celebrate May 24 with sports of all kinds. At this time children's sports that were to have been run off at the Jubilee celebration but were called on account of rain, will be staged.

The committee have something over $60 in cash for prize money for children's sports. This money was donated by the different school districts for the boys and girls to contest for. The children who are lucky enough to come out winners in the races will have money to have a good time with that afternoon.

It is announced that all school children will be admitted to the grounds free. This announcement should bring out a record crowd of children for the great day.

SCOUTS WOULD APPRECIATE MORE BOOKS FOR LIBRARY

By Howard Warner.

The regular meeting of the Gleichen Boy Scouts was held in the Scout Hall, April 24th, with a good attendance. The meeting was formally opened and then patrols went to their rooms for inspection. The standing of the different patrols are as follows: Owl Patrol, amount for the night 205, total 1,319; Crow Patrol 221, 1,186; Ram Patrol 136, 1,035; Beaver Patrol 86, 1,020.

After inspection a game was played. Assistant District Commissioner House was present and spoke to the different patrols about obtaining cast-off patrol animals. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. House were present.

The library is progressing favorably but a lot more books would be appreciated.

The Boy Scouts are planning to have a camp this year and a more funds are necessary they are cleaning yards, digging gardens and other available work if you have a Scout can do apply to Scout Master Herb Hunter.

The Court of Honor met after the meeting adjourned and it was decided that the future meetings will be held every Friday evening at seven o'clock.

In the past five years over 350 boys have received scout training in the 2nd Edmonton (St. John's Anglican Church) Boy Scout Troop.

Toronto is the Dominion's largest scouting centre, with 9,700 scouts and leaders, a net increase during 1935 of 1,240.

In a fire-making contest with the ancient Indian "fire bow", the patrol leader of a Quebec Scout Troop secured a flame in fifty seconds. This probably equalled the time required by good Indian fire-makers. The Scouts had made their fire sets of locally secured wood.

A towel and a bathroom plunger were successfully used by a Prince Edward Island Scout for a tourniquet and tightener when a spear-like piece of glass severed an artery in his father's leg. Because of the depth of the cut and the rapid bleeding, the lad's prompt efficiency was credited by the doctor with saving the father's life.

A certain scoutmaster sent his membership to a laundry. It was returned beautifully clean and new. Curious to know under what category it was listed and charged, he referred to the laundry list. He found in under the heading, "Bibs and Feeders."

Sports play an important part in encouraging international trade and in bringing about better understanding among people of various countries. Baseball is becoming increasingly popular in the orient as well as in Cuba, Mexico and other western republics. The story is told of a tennis manufacturer who avoided shutting down production for half the year by developing a market south of the Equator, which have summer while we have winter. For a long time this continent imported most of its golf sticks and balls from England, but today we export more golf equipment than we import.

News Items of Local Interest

W. Sutermeister was a busy man Monday moving his farming equipment from town to the country in anticipation of getting busy on the land as soon as conditions permit.

J. Wode, assistant editor of the Calgary Herald, his grandson Jack Wode and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fothergill spent the week-end in Gleichen visiting Mrs. W. F. Evans.

At the present time much cleaning of lawns and yards is taking place. Already the town looks a great deal better for the annual spring cleanup.

The sewer on the main highway in front of J. Black's residence was dug up and found to be frozen solid with ice. The pipe here is over six feet underground giving some idea just how deep the frost penetrated last winter. This is the deepest in the history of Gleichen.

Carl Johnson's strawberry plants are already blooming. In fact flowers started sprouting out Sunday, which is the earliest we have heard of this year. Mr. Johnson stated that last year he picked a gallon of berries in a day until the hail storm in July chopped his garden to pieces. However this year the plants seem to be coming along as well as ever, and judging from the amount of flowers beginning to show he will be able to pick a gallon of strawberries a day.

Mrs. C. B. Jones and Mrs. E. M. Broadbent were hosts at a shower for Miss Edith Gervais shortly before her marriage to Mr. David Desjardine. After tea had been served Lynn Jones assisted by her sister Elsie, wheeled in a daintily decorated carriage laden with gifts that proved so beautiful and useful. There were fifteen guest present.

Mrs. Harrison wishes to announce the engagement of Elizabeth Mary Harrison, daughter of the late C. W. Harrison, to John Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davidson, Calgary. The wedding will take place early in May.

On a recent Saturday evening a card party of the cast bunch was held at the home of Mrs. W. McKeever, when seven tables were kept playing until midnight when lunch was served by the ladies. Mrs. McArthur was the lucky lady winning first prize, and Jean Lee of Calgary, won the consolation. Mr. O. Calkins took the first and Mr. C. Roueche consolation.

On April 23rd the U.F.W.A. held their meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Buckley, when there was a good turnout in spite of the bad roads, there being 19 present. Roll call was amusing, and answered by "Make a speech on Question Your Right Hand Neighbor Asks." Mrs. F. Sammons read the May Bulletin on Education and also reading course. Being rushed for time Mrs. Sammons was asked to hold her paper over for a later date. Mrs. H. Barne favored the ladies with a piano solo, accompanied by Mrs. E. Barne. Lunch was served by Mrs. Umbrite and Mrs. Warner. The next meeting will be held at home of Miss Goodwin and a short program will be arranged by Mrs. Umbrite and Mrs. Quinnell in connection with Mother's Day.

LADIES SOCIAL CREDIT GROUP HOLD SESSION

Mrs. Kenneth McPhee was hostess to the Social Credit Ladies Group at their last meeting. Twenty-two members and visitors were in attendance. After the roll call the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Business and future activities of the Group were discussed. The current events and news flashes were read and an interesting paper by Mrs. Erford, Miss Georgina McPhee delighted the group with a recitation, after which a dainty tea was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Gillespie on Thursday, April 30. New members and visitors will be heartily welcomed.

During May a fight will likely be staged in the arena. It will not take place until the rush of seeding is over.

A lot of enthusiastic gardeners were busy in their gardens for a time Sunday afternoon. Some of them had new shrubs and trees to plant and were anxious to get them planted. They state the ground is extremely wet yet.

Max Yates is home after attending his second year in the University at Edmonton.

Tonight and tomorrow night the school children who are preparing for the music festival in Bassano next month, will hold a full dress rehearsal in the Community Hall and it is most likely a full house will greet the youthful entertainers when the opening number starts. For days past the ladies connected with the preparing of the equipment the children will use and wear have been very busy both afternoons and evenings. If the children do not look appropriately dressed for the occasion it will not be through the lack of care on the part of those preparing the costumes.

Mrs. Sarah Mooney, of Arrowwood, aged 76 years passed away at her home early Tuesday morning. Burial will take place in the Gleichen Catholic cemetery.

Friday a couple of inches of snow fell causing much unpleasantness and mud, but by Sunday the snow had disappeared and the ground was dry. Snow and rain fell again Monday and thus caused more delay to the farmers who are anxious to get on with their work on the land.

The Wheat Pool has brought out a booklet called "The Canadian Wheat Pools on the Air," and contains 52 pages. This little book contains the speeches that were delivered over the radio during the past winter by 13 different speakers. Those who did not hear the speeches may get a copy of this book by writing to the Wheat Pool. Even those who did hear the addresses will find the subjects interesting to read.

Effective with the change of time last Sunday, trains 615 and 516, otherwise known as the Bassano Local, have been discontinued. On Saturday 8:10 p.m. Train No. 516 left Gleichen on its last regular run. As in the past all regular passenger trains will now serve here.

Friends in Gleichen will be pleased to hear of the promotion of Alex. Lewis, to be supervisor of branches for his firm in Winnipeg. This well earned promotion comes from diligence and hard work. We wish Mr. Lewis every success and the best of luck in his new position.

DESIJARDINE-GERVAIS

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Cluny Mission Church, April 22nd, at 10 a.m., when Edith Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gervais, Cluny, was united in marriage with David Samuel, son of Mr. G. Desjardine, Gleichen.

The bride looked charming in a floor length gown of pale pink tulle. The bridal veil, reaching the forehead with a wreath of orange blossoms, backed by a halo of net. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Miss Hazel Gervais, sister of the bride, in a pale green ensemble made a charming attendant.

After the ceremony dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to thirty guests. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts.

The happy couple left late that afternoon for a short honeymoon in Calgary, the bride travelling in a brown swaggar suit with harmonizing accessories. On their return they will reside north of Cluny. We wish them much happiness.

Vancouver's Golden Jubilee

Fifty years ago the first trans-continental Canadian Pacific Railway train from Montreal reached the Pacific Coast. This summer Vancouver, now the Gateway to the Orient and port for ships of the entire world, will celebrate the Golden Jubilee of its founding as the western terminal of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Commencing July 1 with Dominion and International Good Will Week, the programme concludes with the Canadian Pacific Exhibition on September 7, and includes land and water sports, several weeks of grand parades, musical attractions, visit of American warships, a two-day air show with a solo flight across Canada, planned as the highlight, floral decorations, visit of 15,000 Shriners in mid-July, traditional pageantry of an Aldershot tattoo, frontier week, street dancing and costume balls, and historical exhibits arranged to illustrate Vancouver's steady progress during the first half century of its existence.

Even before the beginning of the celebration proper, many colorful events will be given recognition, including Empire Day and horticulture show in May; Pioneer's festival on June 13-14; school programme in June; Eucharistic Congress, which will attract thousands, June 11 to 14; golf tournament, King's birthday, and religious, dedicatory services.

One of the highlights of Vancouver's celebration will be the re-enacting of the arrival of the first trans-continental railway line, almost half a century ago. The venerable old engine, first to the coast, will be run again, with its original pilot, W. H. Evans, at the throttle. Some of the old-timers who saw the first train arrive will also be present for the ceremony. The Canadian Pacific Railway will run tours at low cost from Eastern Canada to the Pacific Coast for the event, with stop-over privileges at Banff Springs, Hotel Chateau Lake Louise, and other famous Rocky Mountain resorts.

Pictures show the old and the new Vancouver, and Sir William Van Horne, second president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who chose the name of Vancouver in 1864 for the western terminal of the first trans-continental railway line.

The Queen Mary

Disappointment is probably in store for millions in the British Empire who have conceived the impression that the first trip of the Cunard-White Star's super-liner, the Queen Mary, scheduled for May 27, is a world sporting event of the first magnitude with the blue ribbon of the Atlantic for speed as the stakes.

The speed record for the Atlantic was held for the British for 22 years by the Cunard Steamship Company's Mauretania until August, 1929, when the title passed to the Rex, flying the flag of Italy, and has not since been recovered by any vessel carrying the Union Jack.

Millions have been led to believe that the Queen Mary is expected to win back the speed supremacy of the North Atlantic for Great Britain, and as a result of the great amount of publicity given to this vessel during the course of her construction and on the occasion of her launching at Clydebank a few weeks ago they confidently anticipate that this consummation is to be achieved by the new boat, but this, according to the London Times, is not the purpose of the construction of this great steamship.

On the contrary, the Times shatters this and other misconceptions of the purpose and mission of the Queen Mary. Not only was she not built to wrest the speed supremacy of the North Atlantic from another country but, we are told, she was not designed to be the most luxurious liner afloat, despite reams of descriptive material which has been published emphasizing the lavish nature of her appointments and equipment.

"The problem," says the Times, "was not to build a ship so big and so fast as to stagger creation." The problem all along was to build the smallest and slowest ship that could form one half of a weekly service."

Continuing the Times says: "Speed is very expensive; and a ship must be big to pay for it. On the other hand size is also expensive; and there is need for nice calculation. The Queen Mary is not meant to be the biggest and fastest ship afloat. She is not meant to be a 'luxury ship' at all. It has been made perfectly clear that the luxury will be there for those who seek it; but one advantage of great size in a ship is that room can be made for all sorts of people, and the Queen Mary is not for the rich only."

However, if the Queen Mary is not designed to be the largest ship afloat or the fastest boat on the seven seas or even the most luxurious, she has claims to distinction which make her an impressive monument to the brains responsible for her creation, exemplified in the words stability, strength and safety and these attributes have been achieved without undue sacrifice of size, speed and lavishness.

On the contrary, the Queen Mary is of noble proportions and embodies the last word in naval architecture, marine engineering and scientific research.

Every conceivable device has been adopted to justify the claim made for the Queen Mary that she is the safest ship afloat and that passengers aboard her will be safer than in their own homes. To quote a recent issue of Pearson's Weekly she is "so well equipped with scientific instruments that it will be literally possible, with a little adjustment, to send her from Southampton to New York without a man aboard," and "she will be able to steam through impenetrable fog at 40 miles per hour, automatically steering and protected from collision with ships and objects."

These devices include a "radio searchlight" with which the Normandie is also fitted, a continuous beam of ultra-short radio waves which sweep the horizon ahead of the bows of the advancing vessel and record obstructions on a sensitive receiver.

Another is the infra-red ray detector to locate other vessels or icebergs at a great distance in dense fog or black night. "The latest detector of this kind," says the writer in Pearson's Weekly, "is so sensitive to changes in heat waves that it can detect a man through a mile of heavy fog by the heat of his body."

The boat is equipped with an automatic helmsman, consisting of a gyro, electrically connected with the steering gear in such fashion that if the vessel defects one half degree from the set course it will automatically be swung back on the true course. An "echo sounder" will guard the vessel against striking a submerged wreck or iceberg growlers, which hardly show above the surface.

The Queen Mary is practically fireproof. Each cabin is safeguarded by a thermostatic alarm which automatically sets water sprinklers in action when the temperature rises above a certain level and the "electric eye" will be used to detect fire in the holds. At the slightest trace of smoke the electric eye will sound the alarm and release a stream of carbon dioxide gas, automatically selecting the burning hold and smothering the blaze.

A unique safety feature is the design of the lifeboats. There are 24 steel, motor driven lifeboats, each large enough to carry 145 passengers and equipped with skids on their hulls which would enable them to be launched in safety even if the Queen Mary were listing at the extraordinary angle of 70 degrees.

New Uniform Calendar Plan

Provides International Holiday And Five Business Holidays Yearly

With a suggestion that it be put into effect on January 1, 1938, Rev. Father Jacob Wilhelm of Regina has drafted a reform calendar which provides for the days of the week always falling on the same dates of each month.

Under Father Wilhelm's plan the four quarters of the year are equal with 31 days for the first month of each quarter and 30 days each for the other two months except that 31 days are provided for December to give a total of 365 for the year. An extra day is wedged in between June 30 and July 1 every fourth year to be known as "leap day."

The year will start with January 1 labelled as "international holiday" and January 2 is to be a Sunday with December 31 a Saturday. If the calendar were adopted God Friday would always fall on April 7 and Easter Monday on April 9.

It is suggested that Saturdays falling on January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1 be made business holidays, giving with international day on January 1, five business holidays each year. The first four, according to Rev. Father Wilhelm, would be known as rest days when "everyone should carry out a review of his debts or profits."

The calendar is designed to offset objections of the Christian churches to the recently announced plan to provide for a year of 13 months containing 28 days each.

Patient Revived

Apparently Dead For Some Minutes Is Resuscitated On Operating Table

Another case of a patient who "died" on the operating table, only to be brought back to life again by heart massage and injections of adrenaline, is described in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

The patient, Ernest Hinsley, about 45, of Waterloo, Ashton, is now normal again, but has no memory of having been to the operating theatre.

His heart, said Dr. J. V. Fiddian, stopped without warning and Hinsley ceased to breathe. Efforts at resuscitation began immediately and the "usual two or three minutes were wasted in fruitless artificial respiration."

Dr. Fiddian then resorted to cardiac massage, and continued this for two minutes without feeling any spontaneous movement of the heart. He then injected intra-cardiac adrenaline into the ventricle.

"The effect," he writes, "was immediate and almost magical. With each squeeze that followed the heart was felt to be enlarging and suddenly it began to beat wildly."

"It was several minutes more before spontaneous respiration was established, but after that there was no further immediate anxiety."

"The patient was returned to bed with his heart still beating tumultuously, in a manner strongly suggestive of an overdose of adrenaline."

Floods And Sun Spots

Are Closely Connected Is Opinion Of Planetarium Director

Floods that have swept the eastern part of North America during the past few weeks are "definitely correlated" with sun spots "and we may expect damp, rainy weather for the next four or five years because these spots are fast reaching a maximum intensity," Dr. Clyde Fisher, director of the Hayden planetarium and fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, said in a lecture at Providence, Rhode Island.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile does not flow freely, your food does not digest. It just clogs in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach, makes constipated, harmful poisons go into the body and you feel sour, flat and the worst looking kind.

A new bile-removing agent, called Aspirin, has been found. It takes these poisons out of the bowels, allowing them to make you feel "up and up." It is a new and gentle, safe way of cleaning out the bowels. It has no harmful effects on the stomach. It is a new and gentle, safe way of cleaning out the bowels. ## Overcomes Difficulties

Youth Born Deaf And Dumb Learns To Talk And Graduates From University

Born deaf and dumb 23 years ago, Hillis Arnold, University of Minnesota graduate, has accomplished two objectives—speech and completion of a three-year mural painting project. The youth's mother, Mrs. A. E. Arnold, said she taught Hillis lip reading. She patiently enunciated words slowly. Hillis repeated them by watching how she formed the syllables with her lips. Unable to hear, he was unable to control his tone.

His mother with her hands, indicated when he was speaking too loudly or too softly. To-day he speaks in a clearly understandable moderate tone.

The youth entered the university engineering school in 1931. In his senior year he began an art project, a series of murals depicting the work of various engineering professions. To-day the job—100 feet of murals, five feet high—was completed and he was free to devote his time to another job, as instructor in the Minneapolis Institute of Art.

Building Flying Boats

Imperial Airways To Operate A World-Wide Service

More than 1,000 skilled men are engaged at Rochester, England, in building a fleet of 29 giant flying-boats for operation by Imperial Airways on world-wide services—including the Atlantic.

There are two decks to the new flying-boats, being built for passenger accommodation and for the crew (two pilots, two stewards, and a purser), mail and baggage.

The gross weight of the new ships will be 17½ tons, and they will be powered by four 740-h.p. engines, giving a maximum speed of nearly 200 m.p.h. and a cruising speed of 155 m.p.h. Underneath the pilots' cabin is a comfortable smoking room, and there are two more cabins more than eight feet high with adjustable lounge chairs.

There is daytime accommodation for 24 passengers and for 16 sleeping in bunks by night.

Issuing New Coinage

Canada Could Improve On Design When Making Change

With the coronation of King Edward VIII, Canada, in common with the rest of the Empire, will issue a new coinage. Would not the present, while we still have a year or so, be a good opportunity for the Government to call together a body of artists and experts to submit designs for coins that would be a little more representative of Canadian artistic accomplishment than the exceedingly unattractive ones which, year after year, generation after generation, reign after reign, come from the mint with such deadly monotony?

Tradition declares that upon each accession the effigy of the new Sovereign upon the obverse side of the coin shall be reversed. When we have done that we in Canada are apparently content to allow the funeral wreath of maple leaves on the reverse side—which on a slightly worn coin much more closely resembles those of the cabbage—and the rather sprawling legend within it to continue to "symbolize" Canada. The comparatively new Canadian nickel is one of the ugliest coins in circulation anywhere.

Other countries are paying increasing attention to the attractiveness of their coins from an aesthetic point of view. Some of the newer United States specimens are things of real artistic beauty, indicative of the country's progress in the arts of sculptural design and modelling. There are surely competent artists in the Dominion who would welcome an invitation to compete for designs for coins of different values, and out of such competition there might come a coinage of which, from an artistic point of view, Canada could be legitimately proud. — Montreal Star.

Was Not Photographed

Smallest Book Printed With Ink From Copper Plates

The world's smallest book, which is a quarter of an inch long, three-sixteenths wide, and weighs a grain and a quarter, is for sale in London. The most surprising thing about the text—which is E. P. Thompson's rendering of selected verses of the Rubaiyat—is that it is properly printed from minute copper plates, with ink, on paper, and not merely produced by photograph. The pages are stitched by hand and bound in leather. The verses look like small dark stains on the paper, and can be read only with a magnifying glass. When the book was being printed in Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1932 it was found that the vibration of a passing motor-car was enough to blur the type.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Something New In Pictures

Three Dimensional Animated Cartoons To Be Shown

Three dimensional animated cartoons which can be shown with regular movie projection equipment and without use of any gadget by audiences were announced by Max Fleischer, pioneer in the animated cartoon field.

Fleischer declares his invention has passed the experimental stage, and that full length animated cartoons using the third dimension throughout will be released within six months.

Fleischer obtains the third dimensional effect by foregrounding the perspective of the camera to six feet and using a special lens which does not focus directly on the objects photographed.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buzz Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is unhurt. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to show with her. Link goes to see the Sheriff, who tells him Buzz Hamilton has been paroled, and would arrive on the incoming stage. Buzz Hamilton arrives back in the dam. Roper Kilgo and Jackpot Meli meet him and he goes into the saloon with them. By the time his sister and Link come from the bank, Buzz has had several drinks. Roper has distorted the facts concerning the dam proposal to Buzz, making it appear that Link was trying to ruin him. Buzz, inflamed with liquor and anger, tries to throttle Fleming, but is thrown to the floor. Then Helen appears and tells Fleming she has been robbed of the $800 they had obtained from the bank.

On their arrival home they were met by a couple of Link's workmen, who told Fleming that there was a strike at the dam, and that the men were afraid they would not get their wages. Link told them of the robbery and promised them their money as soon as possible. The men reluctantly returned to work.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XII.

Half an hour after the irrigation dam workers had concluded to return to their toil, Fleming emerged from the ranch house at sound of a horseman approaching. He recognized Marty Bush, the local cattle agent. Starting to meet him, Link stopped, his attention drawn to a bit of paper in the dust where marks of Vallee's body still showed.

He picked up the crinkled sheet. He noticed it out, and read in pencilled scrawl: "Keep on the job. We'll run this guy out yet."

Fleming looked up as Bush came closer. "Howdy, Link. Have a customer cigar. Say," he added, nodding his friend's scout, "what yuh got there, a love note without any love?"

Fleming surrendered his find. "Just had a run-in with Gyp Vallee when he tried to get my men on strike because I couldn't meet their payroll. Looks to me like Gyp dropped this. What do you think of it?"

The cattle agent read the note, and handed it back looking thoughtful. "Somebody shore put Gyp up to throwin' monkey wrenches in the machinery of buildin' your dam. But who would it be? Otto Pieper, maybe? You owe Otto considerable money, don't yuh, Link? And in case it came to a sheriff's sale the Stockmen's Bank'd come off first bet.

He pursed his lips as again he studied the scrawl. "This Otto Pieper's hand. Besides, I hardly think he would hire a man like Vallee to try to crack a sluice gate and get my workers to strike. No," he mused, "somebody else is behind Gyp."

"Break a sluice gate, eh?" Bush gave a low whistle. "Well, yuh'll have to keep your eyes open, Link. Some folks can't get along without pryin' into other folks' business, and I reckon yuh made lots of 'em, buildin' that dam."

"By the way," he went on, chuckling, "a couple of hours ago I was talkin' to a man in the Trailend Hotel in town, and happened to glance out the window in time to see some different human nature." He winked and nudged his friend. "You and a certain young lady had that sick cat look, standing hand in hand, staring at Mr. Lane's jewelry. Ought to buy her a diamond and get married, Link. It's the life!"

The other struck a match for the cigar Bush had tendered him, and expelled a cloud of smoke to snuff the flame. "Marty?" he returned good naturedly. "I've got troubles enough now."

"Yes," Marty stared toward the light streak in the foothills that was the Silver Creek Dam. That's what I'm here to talk about, your troubles. Wantin' to ship steers day after tomorrow?"

Fleming led the way back to the ranch house steep with both men perched on a home-made bench. "Helen and I are short-handed, but we're rounding up everything with horns and a tail. We're depending on you, Marty, to sell it for us."

Bush made no reply for a moment. "I'd like to see you hold your beef another ten days, Link. I've studied the market quite some time now, and it's my judgment you'd get more money. Steers for market ain't so plentiful, but it won't be reflected in price till shipments sag under last year."

"Marty, just between us—and I wouldn't say this to another man in the county—Helen and I have to sell now. We've got to have cash, or else."

"Hm. Heard about her gettin' robbed of the eight hundred?" The agent cast a sidelong glance at Link. "Hit you party hard?"

Fleming nodded. "Look here, Marty proceeded, 'I want to see yuh get up prices for your beef because you really need it so much. Would it like to sell me a hundred acres of that wasteland, would yuh, Link?"

The youth laid a hand on his friend's knee. "Do you believe in the dam?"

"General opinion's against it, yuh know. And I backed out once."

"I wouldn't sell you a hundred acres of solid gold, Marty, unless you really had faith in it."

There was a full minute of silence. The cattle agent's cheery countenance wore a troubled look. Finally he said: "Link, would yuh—uh—like to borrow a couple hundred?"

Fleming was wholly surprised. He happened to know that Marty's diminutive wife, Lenore, had just recovered from a costly illness.

"Thanks," he said with feeling. "I couldn't give security except my steers. I'm keepin' 'em clear because I'll need every cent they'll bring. And more, I reckon."

Bush scratched his bulbous nose. He dug inside his calfskin jacket, produced a two-inch-thick packet, and tossed it on his host's lap. "Ho hum!" he yawned, rising to stretch himself. "There's five hundred in small bills. Thought that'd suit you best. I got to ride over to Plodge Somers' place an' talk beef with him. So lo—"

"Marty! Well," Link confessed, exceedingly pleased as he fingered the money. "I guess you're crazy. But—ch, shucker!" he exclaimed. "I'm shore obliged!"

"No?"—mockingly. "Link, got me Triple H an' Star Loop beef to Holmes Junction early Thursday mornin', and I'll fix you up. Want cash then too, eh? So long, Fleming's Folly! See yuh in bankruptcy court."

While he made off on his horse Link stared at the wad of bills in his hand. Grinning, he went at length to the corral where he transferred his saddle to a skittish mustang. Half an hour later he left his mount in a patch of cottonwoods that bordered the heretofore useless valley, and started on foot the remainder of the way to the irrigation dam. It was a rocky, rather steep climb even by the well-worn trail over which every pound of material had to be transported. Link walked

Reduce Relief Lists

Tourist Trade Expected To Give More Employment To Women

A statement issued by the Dominion tourist bureau that the coming season is expected to be one of the most successful since the boom years prior to 1929, foretells a great reduction in the number of Canadian women on relief lists.

Out of more than 80,000 employable women on relief, according to statistics presented by Labor Minister Rogers in the House of Commons during a speech on the proposed national employment commission, nearly half come under the heading of domestic, hotel, restaurant and similar occupations. The tourist bureau believes many women under these headings will be re-employed when the tourist season gets underway.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people "round 40" think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot... "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an untolerant look on the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar "Milk of Magnesia" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores. They are the equivalent of the famous "Milk of Magnesia" brand.

along feeling the bulge of the money in his pocket, his step considerably lighter than it had been an hour ago.

On a rocky eminence which overlooked the dam and the broad acreage to be irrigated, he saw three figures in conference. Jackpot Meli, the gunman, Roper Kilgo, and—yes, it was Gyp Vallee.

Link paused. His fingers encountered that anonymous note he had found. On quick impulse he untied his blue neckerchief. This he wrapped about his right hand as if it were injured, then strode casually forward.

"Here comes the guy that talks men into workin' for nothin'!" Kilgo greeted caustically.

Jackpot smiled his dry, reserved smile. Vallee darted beady eyes for a means of escape but Fleming blocked the only exit. He came on a tolerant look on his tanned face. "Wouldn't put it that way, Roper. The boys know it takes money, and that Helen and I are a little hard pressed right now."

"Yuh'll be harder pressed, an' then not pressed at all!" scoffed the thickest rancher.

He meant that bankruptcy would do the project. Link halted sideways to Meli. "Say, Jackpot, will you reach that package out of my pocket? Got my hand between a mare and a corral bar. Jest get that wad of money, will yuh?"

All three stared from Link's hand to his trousers pocket. They exchanged frowns of surprise. "Money?"

"Payroll money, five hundred bucks of it. Oh, by the way," Fleming added carelessly as he accepted the wad from Jackpot. "I wish you'd do me a favor, Roper. Write me a note to Marty Bush, since I can't do it myself with this bad paw."

Kilgo tilted back his sombrero and summoned a friendly look that was not deceiving. "Well, shore, I'll write yore note."

He produced a stub of pencil and Link gave him a page out of a pocket notebook. Leaning to use a boulder for a desk, the man looked up inquiringly.

"Write this," Fleming requested. "Dear Marty: I'm bankin' on you to sell those steers Thursday and get me cash instead of a bill of lading, as Miss Hamilton and I have to raise money quick for the dam. I'll meet you at Holmes Junction Thursday mornin' for it. Just sign my name," he ended. "Much obliged."

He turned to go back to the main trail but could not resist one parting shot. "Glad you let me win that ground three years ago, Roper. Yes, sir," he chuckled, "take a good look at the dam and wasteland—you can tell it's going to jump from fifty cents to two hundred an acre!"

A Suitable Reward

"A three-hapenny stamp, please," said the old lady to the assistant in the post office. "And, by the way, haven't I seen you somewhere before?"

"Yes," said the assistant. "I was the man who rescued you when you fell into the river last summer at Richmond."

"Well, well," exclaimed the old lady, "in that case, I'll have twelve three-hapenny stamps, six penny ones, and a postal order for five shillings."
